A Beginning

Autumn: Kaleidoscope

of Penn Excitement!

Just as the artist splashes the canvas with a brilliant array of color, so the beginning of another school year is characterized by vibrant excitement. It is evident as hundreds of students spill out of busses and cars to begin a new day. It mingles in the crisp autumn air with the rustling of leaves and melodies of the marching band; it echoes in the cheer-laden air of the football stadium. Not-so-vibrant and not-so-exciting times of hard work, boredom, and defeat are inevitable. But without subdued colors, the artist could not highlight the brilliancy of his painting. And the picture at Penn High School is often highlighted by the vivid excitement only Kingsmen can create.

. . . ART COLORS LIFE'

Convocations this year aspired to provide the students and faculty with a very different sort of entertainment and atmosphere than are met every day during the year, in the classroom. Each performer brought to Penn his mastery in his field, attempting to inspire, entertain and educate the student body.

Though few in number, these welcomed interruptions of class routines varied widely, from the arts to the latest school assembly craze, colorful 'Spaceball.' And, as always, the most outstanding feature was the performer's sincerity.

Winter: Alpenglow of

—John Donne

At Penn every true Kingsman is a piece of the school, a part of its activities. He often needs the activity more than it needs him. He needs to belong, to join, to work, to share responsibility; he needs to be needed. Committee meetings, planning meetings, workshops, and practices fill hours of after-school time. With all that needs to be accomplished through group cooperation—planning club activities, preparing music numbers, practicing for successful athletic teams—no Kingsman can be an Island.

Snow Days, 'Silver Bells' Usher in Holiday Season

The first winter snow flurries prophesy the flurry of excitement and gaiety of the ensuing months. Snowflakes swirl as students rush through a whirl of parties, games, and dances—and plow through drifts of term papers, algebra assignments, and essays to be read and written. Keyed-up fans explode as the basketball swishes through the net and the final buzzer sounds. Strains of "O Come All Ye Faithful" float through the halls as the choirs rehearse intensely for the upcoming concert. The lobby tree is erected, Ball tickets and TB stamps are sold, cards are exchanged. All activities build to a feverish pitch and then—Christmas comes, bringing to the weeks of frenzied excitement a gentle blanket of snowy peace.

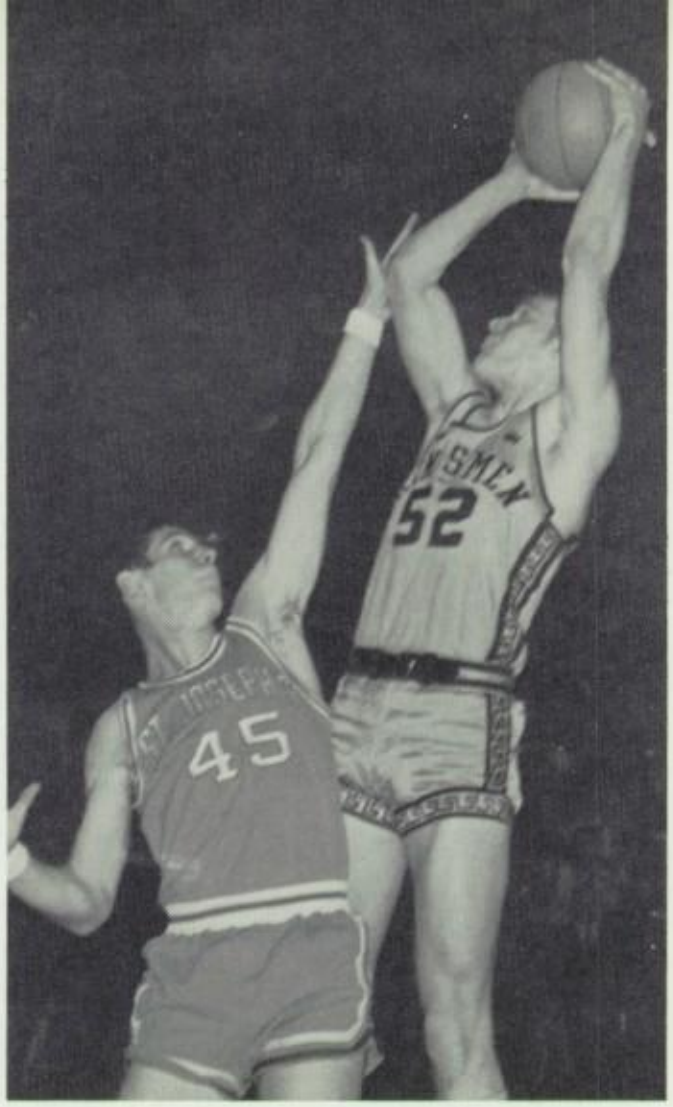
'THRILL OF VICTORY;

AGONY OF DEFEAT'



The roar of the crowd . . . the mute-madness of the scoreboard . . . the referee's whistle . . . the steaming-fog of the locker room . . . the school song . . . the mini chalk board . . . the rythmic applause . . . the chill in the air . . . the tolling of the bell . . . the sense-consuming colorama known as the big game: athletics.

The new tradition of the Victory Bell, rung in by the seniors of 1968, went into full swing as Penn teams took their toll of victories from area schools. The Kingsmen wore well their NIVC crown.

Seventeen Seniors Dominate Squad

'Wardmen Win Three in a Row.' Just a headline and it reflects just a portion of the football schedule but though this win streak includes the total win output for the '68 KINGSMEN, it shows the rugged determination of the Penn grid squad. Comming back after five straight losses the Kingsmen finally gelled and the victory bell rang as Penn beat Marian 14—6, St. Joe (Mich.) 14—0, and Warsaw 26—25.

The K-Men, led by co-captains Dennis Horvath and Doug Ward, had a senior dominated squad. Nine of eleven starters on both offense and defense were seniors. Senior Halfback Gregg Minegar gave the Penn athletic program another first when Gregg earned the distinction of being the first Penn gridder to be named a member of the All-State team. Most Valuable Player Minegar was named to both the AP as well as the UPI All-State team.

In retrospect the one asset the K-Men had which stands out is that the team always kept "coming at you."

In a tense moment on Freed Field, Coach Daffinee ponders the next play, Head Coach Bob Ward shouts encouragement, Coach Hoffman thinks a consultation might help, and team physician Dr. Rhymers hopes his services won't be needed tonight.

Struggling under a host of St. Joe Indians, NIVC champs, co-captain Doug Ward powers for first down yardage.

Doug Shanklin, all-conference end, is poised and ready to help Gregg Minegar pick up big yardage in Penn's 14—0 win over St. Joe Michigan.

The varsity tennis squad improved on last year's record of 3—8 and ended the '68 season over .500 with a mark of 6—4. Led by experienced seniors Doug Chaney, Ron Whitney, and Bernie Accoe the Penn netters took care of Washington, Riley, Jimtown, Howe Military, Elkhart, and NIVC foe Jackson.

Highlighting the season was the individual performance of MVP Ron Whitney whose personal record of 7—3 fell two short of the school record set by Dale Taylor in 1964. Dale netted nine wins that year. Ron also assisted the team in setting a shutout record of four wins, eclipsing the old record of three. Next year's squad will have seven returning lettermen to give Coach Brady a nucleus for another winner on the macadam courts.

Taking place in some of the most beautiful settings of any sports, such as colorful Erskine Golf course, the 1968 cross country team coached by Jim Miller had a highly prolific season with 8 wins and 2 losses. Penn's harriers topped the preceding year's record and placed second in the NIVC tournament.

The team was led throughout the season by Marvin Stewart, who was, to quote Jim Miller, "The most outstanding and dedicated runner on Penn High School's cross country team." He ran the two miles in as little as 9:45 minutes and was the front runner for Penn in every meet. Following close behind Marv in nearly every meet were Terry McMillin, senior, and juniors Jeff White, Chris Beckwith, and Jeff Rinehold.

Penn won over teams such as Washington, Marian, and St. Joseph, and lost only to Mishawaka and Elkhart. They will face these teams agaiin during the next season.

What about the future? With four outstanding seniors taking over the positions left by Marv Stewart and Terry McMillin and with the coaching of Jim Miller, cross country at Penn will continue in its winning way.

Penn Cagers Fashion Second Winning Season!

In his second year at the helm of the Kingsmen, Jim Miller fashioned another winner as the Penn cagers, with a sustained win-streak, finished the hardboard season with a 14—8 record.

The opening game was a heartbreaker just like last year; the only difference was the opponent. The Lancers of LaVille nipped Penn 66—67. The Millermen took the next three and things looked great, however the disappointing two weeks of the season was at hand and we dropped four of the next five games. Featuring balanced scoring, and a lot of team hussle, the Kingsmen finally reached the winning record plateau for good with a season-high point total (95 points) against the South Bend Jackson Tigers. Following the Jackson contest in which MVP Doug Shanklin scored a career high 26 points, Penn continued its mastery over South Bend schools by clipping the Adams Eagles 66—63. The Kingsmen, who were to repeat as co-champs of the NIVC, dropped two of their eight losses to Mishawaka Marian, a Sectional winner for the first time. The regular season tilt with the Knights was a real thriller, decided in the last few seconds of play.

Without a doubt, the most exciting game of the year was the win over South Bend Regional Champ St. Joe. The amazing Kingsmen won the hearts of all their loyal fans with that 73—69 triumph. Add to this massive accomplishment the fact that the gym bulged with the largest crowd ever to witness a Penn basketball game and you have a never-to-be-forgotten 32 minutes.

Penn, a two-time Sectional winner, looked forward to the 11th trip to the Northside Gym and the Elkhart Sectional. And they played like they wanted to make it three. Winning 10 out of the remaining 11 games on the schedule the Kingsmen earned another shot at the Blue Blazers (the sixth meeting in Sectional play). However, despite a fast finish and a gallant battle, the 'Blazers wrote the final chapter of the Kingsmen's basketball story for 1969. Doug Shanklin, Ron Whitney, Doug Freeman, Chuck Robison, Dave Emerson, Doug Nagle, and Larry Kowalinski were the leading characters for the last time.

This year's swimming team proved to be a great success according to head coach George Green, who has never even been close to having a losing team.

Under Green's direction the Penn wetbacks swam to a 12—2 dual meet record. The only losses came from sectional champ Jackson and former state champ John Adams. Besides a respectable dual meet record the Kingsmen tankers won their fourth straight Penn Invitational, placed third in the Adams Relays, fourth in the sectional, and tied for thirteenth in the state meet.

The swim season for many of Penn's tankers never ends. Many on this year's squad swam over four hours a day last summer on local teams. It was with this kind of determination which enabled them to break eight school and pool records. Carl Juroff, MVP Rick Dukeshier, Steve McNeil, Bob Constable, Larry Lemaire, and Mike Powell all qualified for the state meet. Juroff placed fifth in that meet in the 100 yd. freestyle and also was on a relay with McNeil, Lemaire, and Dukeshier that placed fifth.

With the loss of seven senior lettermen Coach Green will need some new talent to have another season like the one past. There are several bright spots for next year's team and combined with Green's coaching ability the '69-'70 season should be a success.

Deb Arnett, Sandy Underly, Pat Sullivan, Nancy Mowiser, Terry Hammond, Sue Metz, Noma Gurich, Sue Fournier, Carol Keil, Karen Loomis, and Donna Frantz serve dual roles as they cheer the boys to victory and act as team timers.

Junior wrestler Jim Zeiger won the 168 lbs. class in the Sectional and is the captain elect for the 1969-70 season. Senior Tom May, the team taptain and MVP on this year's team had a 20—4 record. Senior heavyweight Drew Armentrout was the most improved wrestler on this year's squad.

Eleven seniors wore Black, White, and Gold for the very last time during the 1969 baseball season. The senior-dominated ball club was 6—8 prior to Sectional time.

In the eight losses the K-Men, under new head coach Rich Edgerton suffered through; four were by just one run and two went into extra innings. In the six victories, five were over NIVC competition. Phil Smith, who led the staff with a 5—1 record, was the winning pitcher in those five conference games.

Runs weren't a problem this year, as the diamond nine only once was shut out. Gary Singleton, Tom Kowalinski (the catcher, named Most Valuable by his teammates) Jim Zeiger, Doug Freeman, Gregg Minegar, and Skip Miller provided the big sticks throughout the '69 season.

The Principal's Advisory Council includes his assistant, Mr. Bonebrake; the Dean of Students, Mr. Quimby; the Athletic Director, Mr. Jagg; the librarian, Miss Ipe; and all the departmental chairmen. The council meets periodically to consider, discuss and approve mutual concerns involving the entire school, such as curriculum revision and school policy. The advisory group meets many times in lieu of general teachers' meetings. Consequently, each department chairman is responsible for informing department members in formal or informal meetings.

Mr. Donald Quimby

'A Man for All Seasons' Dean of Students Donald Quimby, former football and wrestling coach and Penn's first and only Dean, is a man of many faces. In his role as Dean he must have a wary eye in checking the attendance of students. Student conferences, phone calls to parents, meetings with teachers are all in the line of duty. As sponsor of the Student Council he generally wears a thoughtful expression as he ponders the success of the Student Dress Code which covers everything from the latest fads in clothing to haircuts and sideburns. As coordinator of the extracurricular program, including school dances, he manages another face for many times the problems are not as grave and the cooperation of others is assured. Mr. Quimby has assisted in the Prom supervision for a number of years and because of his office is a member of the principal's advisory council. And regardless of the face his door is always open.

Mme. Suzanne Silvercruys and Mr. Bonebrake discuss the student reaction to her lecture on sculpturing. This was the first assembly of the year.

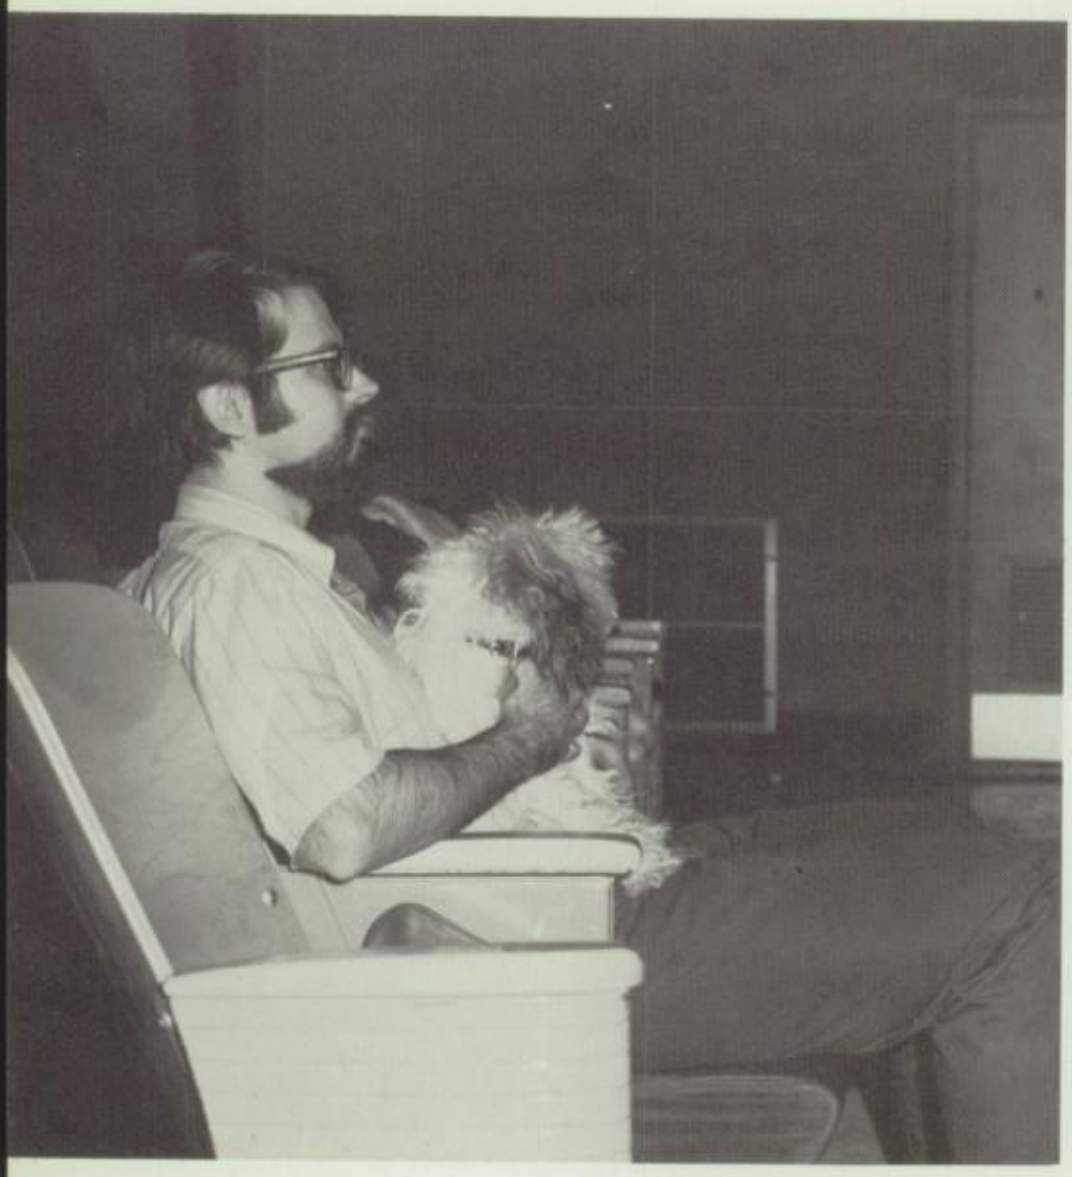
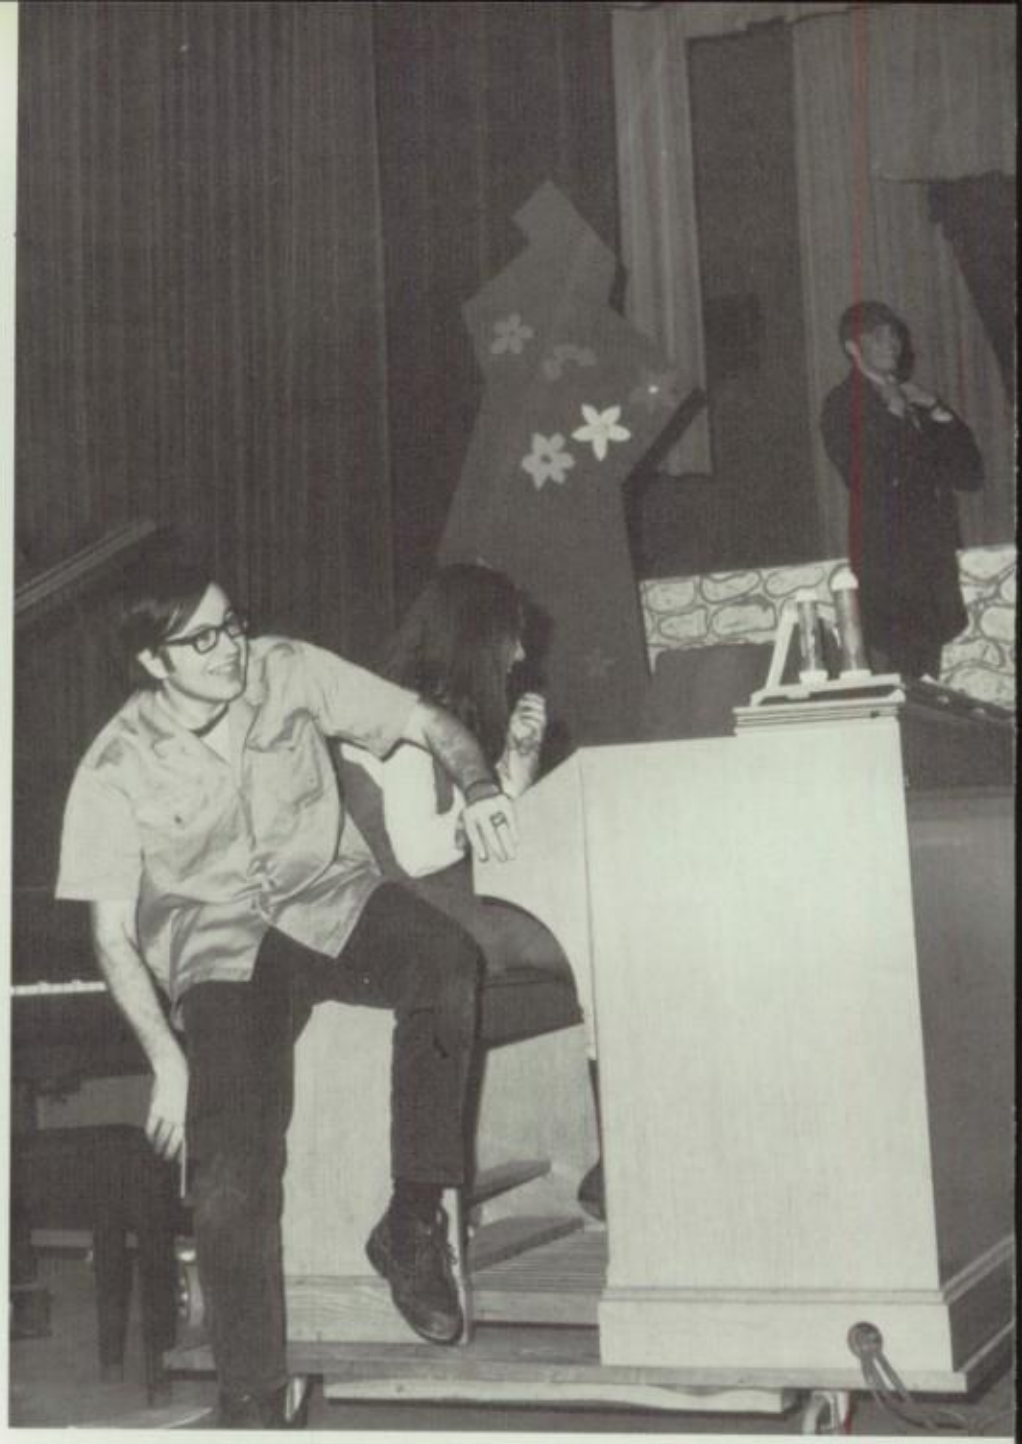
English Classes Attend 'Romeo and Juliet'

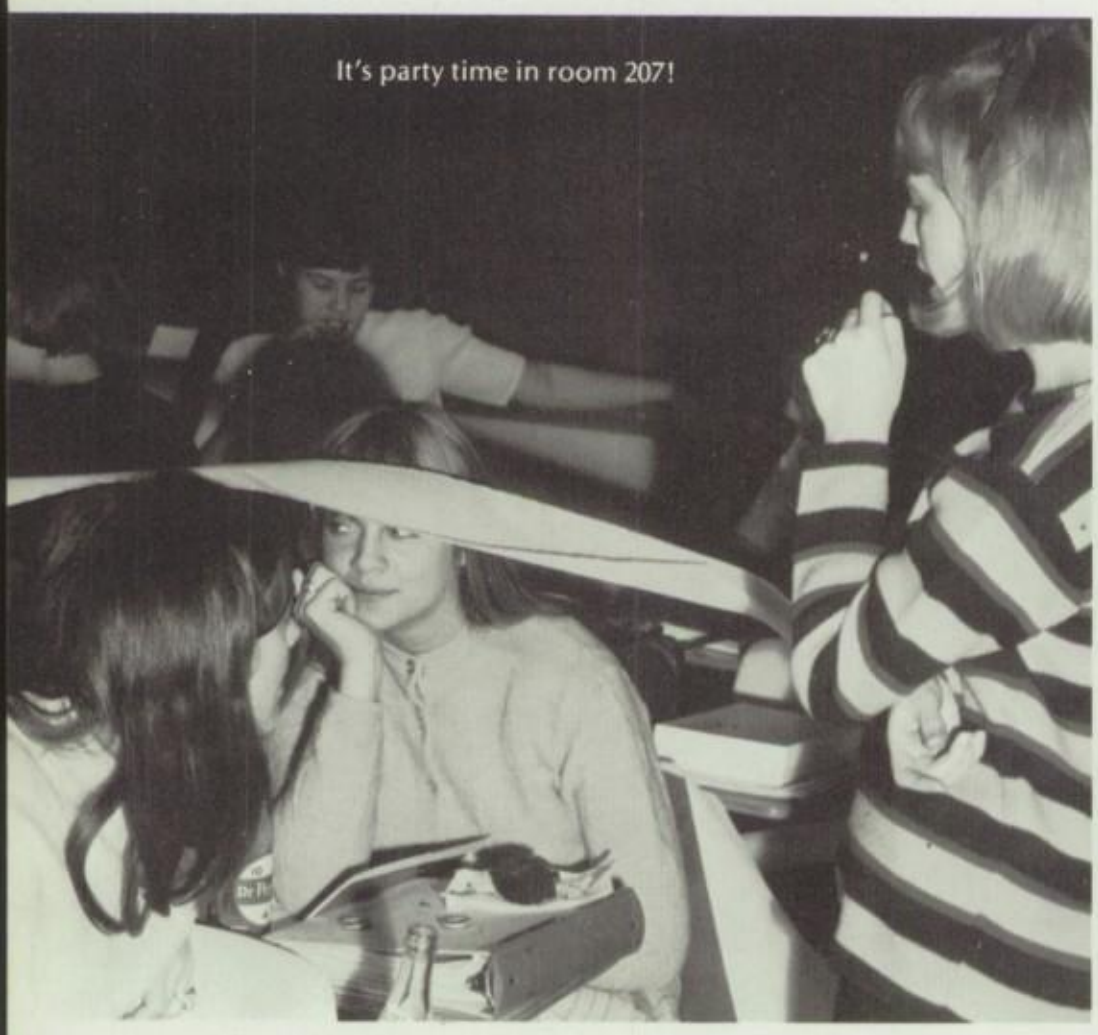
Mr. Sloan congratulates co-winner of the English department's award, Tom Gamba. Tom and Mike Dahms won recognition for their writing in the national competition sponsored by the National Council of Teachers' of English.

Mrs. Bernice Hatcher's first-hour sophomore English class enjoys a springtime break and poses obligingly for the BITTERSWEET photographer. Room 204 will never be the same.



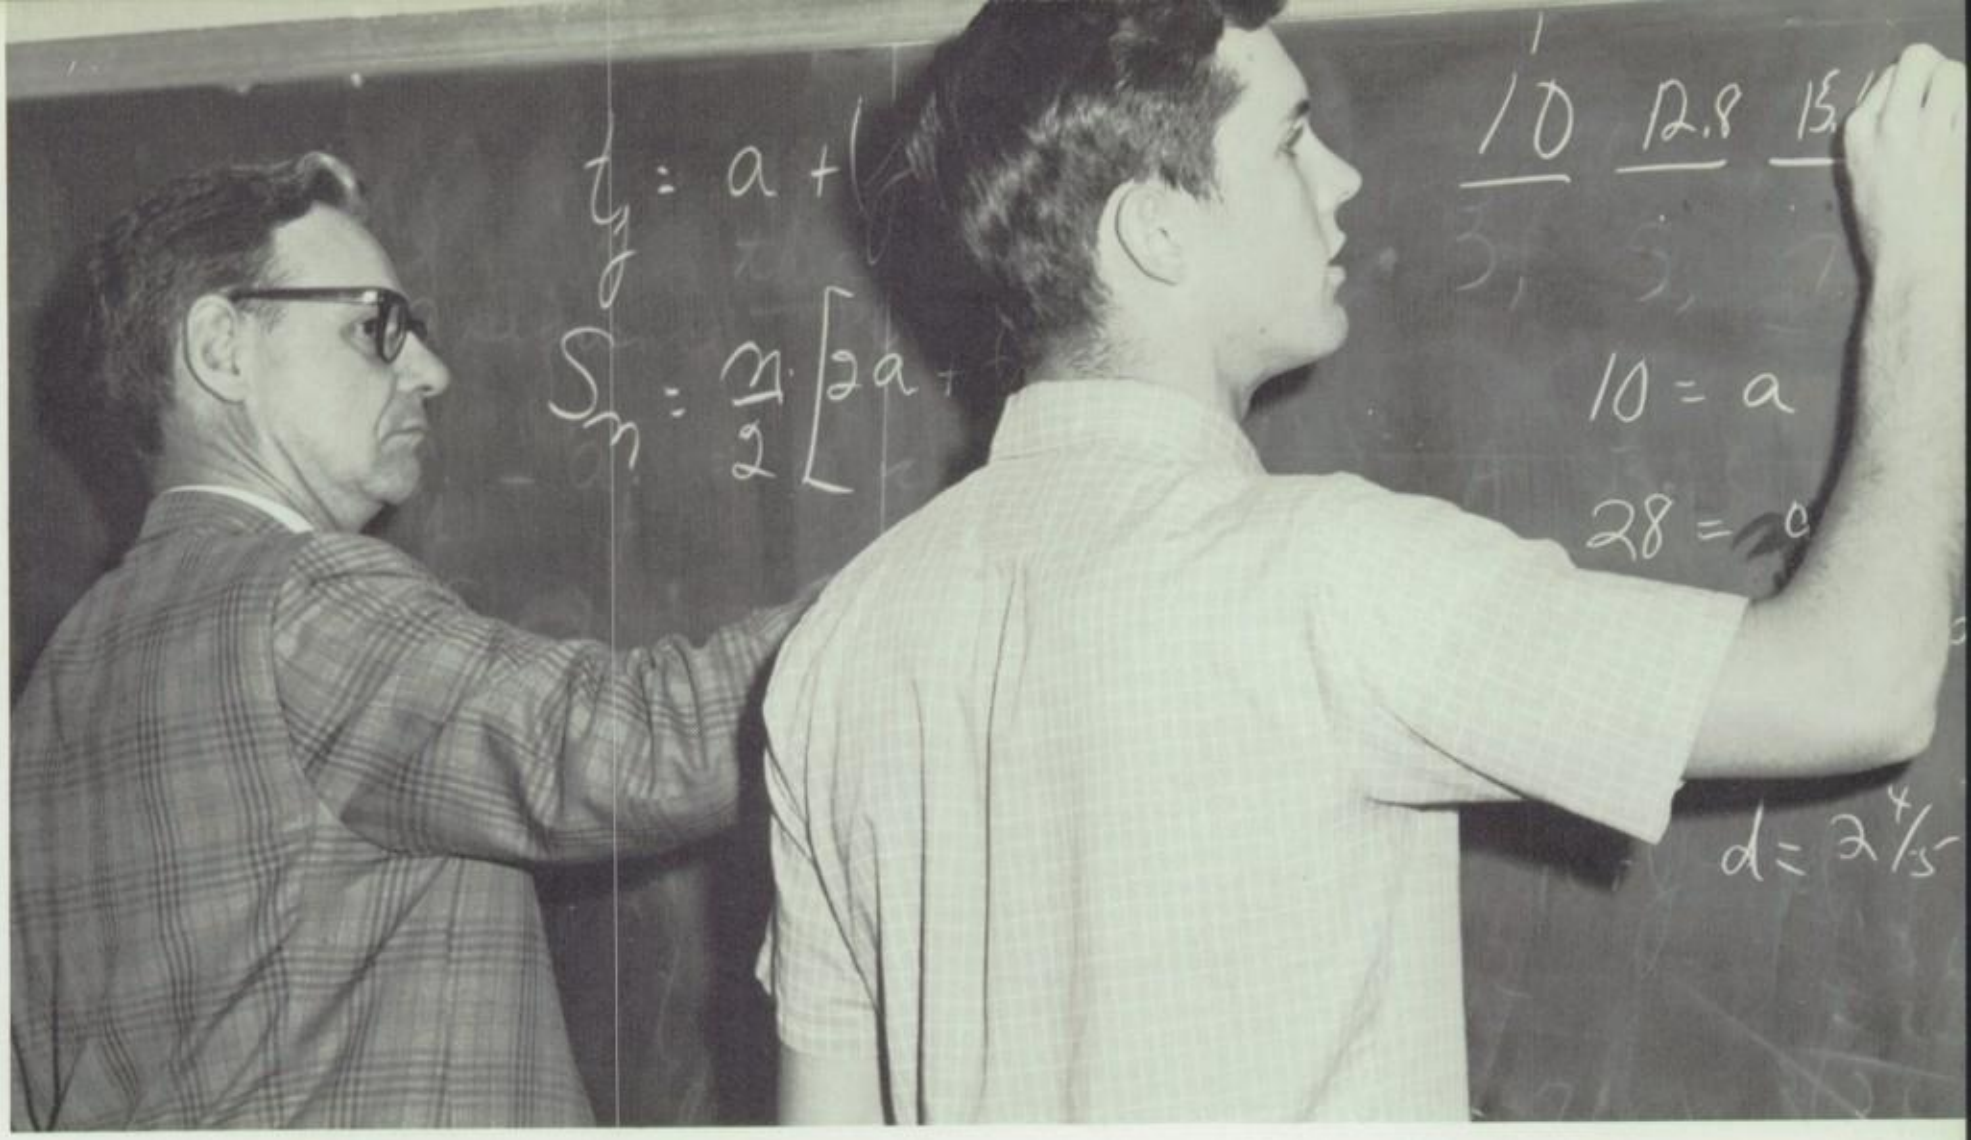
Drama coach James Cook listens objectively to the Penn Players as they rehearse the last play of the season, "Alice in Wonderland."





Mr. Przybysz, in addition to teaching sophomores and juniors English, put his talent to work and served as the musical director for the drama department.

Mr. William Ribblett, is deep in thought as he contemplates the latest issue of the literary magazine. Mr. Ribblett, whose home base is room 205, is also the sponsor of the Penn forensic team.



Math Department Chairman Daniel Diener and junior Gary Nelb engage in some mathematical skulduggery in an after-school 'boning up' session.

Math, "Queen of the Sciences," Challenges Keen Minds

The mathematical abilities of Penn students were put to the test this year and next year promises to be even more demanding. Department chairman Diener would like to include a course in computer math in the present curriculum.

A number of levels of algebra were scheduled for students so they could acquaint themselves with the fundamentals necessary in higher math, physics, and chemistry.

Under the watchful but critical eyes of his classmates in advanced math, Gary Nelb solves that tough homework problem at the board. Not everyone agreed on the answer.

Social Studies teachers Bolen, Hurst, student teacher Coffman, and Phillips informally evaluate another day of team teaching.

War Game Gains Popularity with Government Class

Still language lab-less, the foreign language department pulled out all the stops to make the language part of the curriculum attractive to students.

Plays, demonstrations, speeches, parties, and field trips gave variety to the foreign language program. Penn students can enjoy the study of five languages. They are: French, Spanish, Latin, Russian, German, and of course English!

Term Papers and Speeches Develop Language Fluency

Mrs. Vera Holley, department chairman, in fluent Spanish, discusses the up-coming field trip to Chicago.

Buck Wins Science Award

Science carries us into speculation and department chairman Hecksman has something up his sleeve for novice Semenak.

Sciences Use Lab Sessions and Field Trips

Penn High Loses Freshmen to Middle Schools

Mr. Green discusses Taylor University's 'bike' program with Fall Sports Banquet speaker Bob Davenport.

"Let each man be ashamed to die until he has done something to better mankind."—Wall plaque in Mr. Green's office.

Education is a continuing story as each year another block of students uses the facilities provided and is dutifully awarded according to merit.

1968-'69 was not without its firsts. This time it was subtraction. For the first time Penn High accepted only seniors, juniors, and sophomomore students, resulting in a decreased enrollment. Middle schools, Schmucker and Grissom reaped the change and the P-H-M School Corporation launched its 6-3-3 grade classification system.

Experimental scheduling, new teaching techniques were supported by a voluminous paper back undergirding as the 'educational structure' underwent a face lifting.

In a world of rapid and frustrating change the new breed of student is indeed a new student . . . "who acts upon new principles; he must therefore entertain new ideas, and form new opinions."—Crèvecoeur.

Activities:

THE 'SPICE' OF SCHOOL LIFE

High school should be a place of light, of liberty, and of learning. Beyond the confines of the classroom students can enjoy the freedom of an extensive club program. Some of the clubs are honorary, some are vocational in nature, some are service organizations but all contribute to growth and maturity.

Since "variety is the mother of enjoyment" students find both fun and reward in extracurricular participation. Dabbing in paint or pastry can be a very satisfying art. The many activities students enjoy actually become the proving grounds of good citizenship.

Music Department Chairman Wilbur Eslinger is a study of many moods as he conducts his music theory class.

MUSIC—walking across the lawn during school hours during the spring and hearing the voices of the girls' choir sopranos through the closed windows . . . a sound indicative of the hard work put in by the choral department members. Every choir directed by Mr. Holaway (girls' choir, girls' chorus, Singing Kingsmen, and concert choir) rehearses during a regular class period, five days a week, in preparation for six or eight organizational performances during the year. The combined groups sang at the Christmas and Spring Concerts, and at the Six School Choral Festival, where such other great choirs as LaPorte, Elkhart, Michigan City, Goshen, and Mishawaka sing together. The concert choir also performed in combination with many other area schools for the teachers' conference in the fall.

Choral members participate a great deal in music on their own time. This year's Chamber Choir, wearing the traditional white dinner jackets for the boys, with hot pink gowns for the girls (which most made themselves) performed at a variety of school and community functions, including several programs at the middle schools for many different occasions. These 20 students, chosen by audition by director LaMar Holaway, practiced three evenings each week for an hour, in addition to the hour spent daily in concert choir. Other students—almost everyone in music—participated in state and district solo and ensemble contests; these too rehearsed on their own time and initiative, earning for themselves the high ratings all received.

Chamber Music Provided by Brass, Woodwind Choirs

This was a year of firsts in instrumental music. With discipline, precision, and hours of practice the Marching Kingsmen marched off with a venerable rating at their first contest. The NISBOVA State Organizational Contest brought competing musical organizations to the halls of Penn for the first time.

Twenty-eight seniors earned sweater awards under a new point system while three others received blazers for participation in both instrumental and vocal music. Brass and woodwind choirs gave students a chance to work on techniques and earn points. Guest soloist Haskell Sexton excited the audience with his trumpet solo. Vigorous rehearsals left their mark on the entertaining performances of the Symphonic and Concert Bands.

Penn Library Crowds Titles and Students!

With over 10,000 books, 60 magazine titles, and three micro-film projectors with rolls and rolls of micro-film, the Penn Library began showing signs of over-crowded conditions.

Helping to alleviate this condition, were eleven student librarians. These librarians elected Linda Hiler as president; Darlene Juday as vice president; Pam Paldino as secretary-treasurer; and Cathy Stewart as scrapbook chairman, during their first club meeting of the year.

The club members, sponsored by Miss Ipe and Mrs. Holsinger, were involved in several activities this year. Keeping in step with the Kingsmen Spirit, the librarians sold Kingsmen pins during basketball season and Penn High School note paper during the latter part of the year.

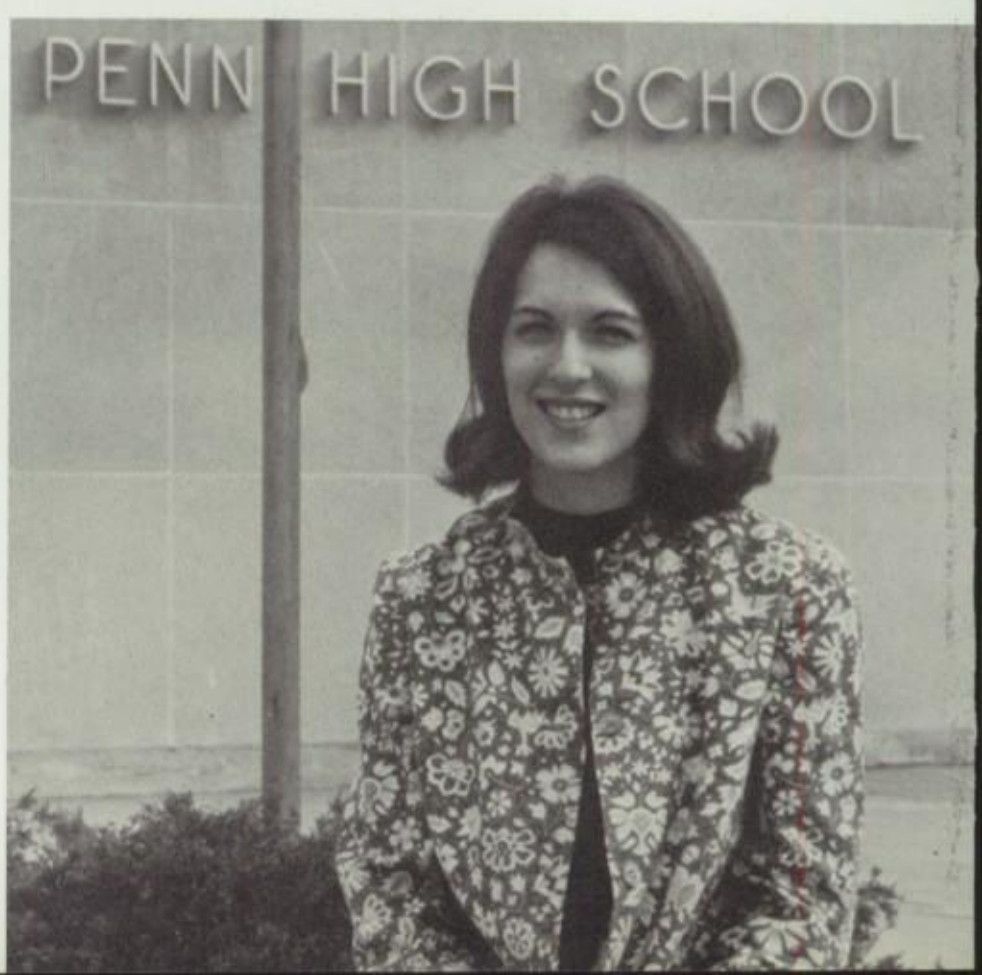
An Education:

'THE GREAT END OF LIFE IS NOT KN



OWLEDGE BUT ACTION'

"The rung of a ladder was never meant to rest upon, but only to hold a man's foot long enough to enable him to put the other somewhat higher." These are the words of Thomas Huxley written about 100 years ago. In 1969 they still make a lot of sense and can still inspire.

Recognition, achievement, honors, and trophies are only important to the degree that they serve as rungs of the educational ladder. AFS finalists, Boys and Girls' Staters, DAR winners, and National Honor Society members have sturdy rungs to climb from in pursuit of worthy life goals.

Mrs. Bernice Hatcher
English Department

One of the Originals, (Mrs. Bernice Hatcher) Retires from Penn

Two of Penn's 'originals', Mrs. Vera Holley and Mrs. Hatcher have a 'remember when' tête á tête.

Mrs. Hatcher, with some of her friends, at a dinner in her honor at Pertofinos.

In Memoriam

The faculty and students of Penn High School deeply mourn the tragic death of Janet Weber. Janet was a member of the Class of 1969.

Senior Steve Eslinger had the distinction this past year of having his editorial, "The Right of Representation," appear in the Voice of Youth column of the Chicago Tribune.

Mr. Robert Gilbert, who specializes in vocational guidance for the industrial arts department, gives some tips on college choices to publications' staffers Dwight Ward and Dan Randolph.

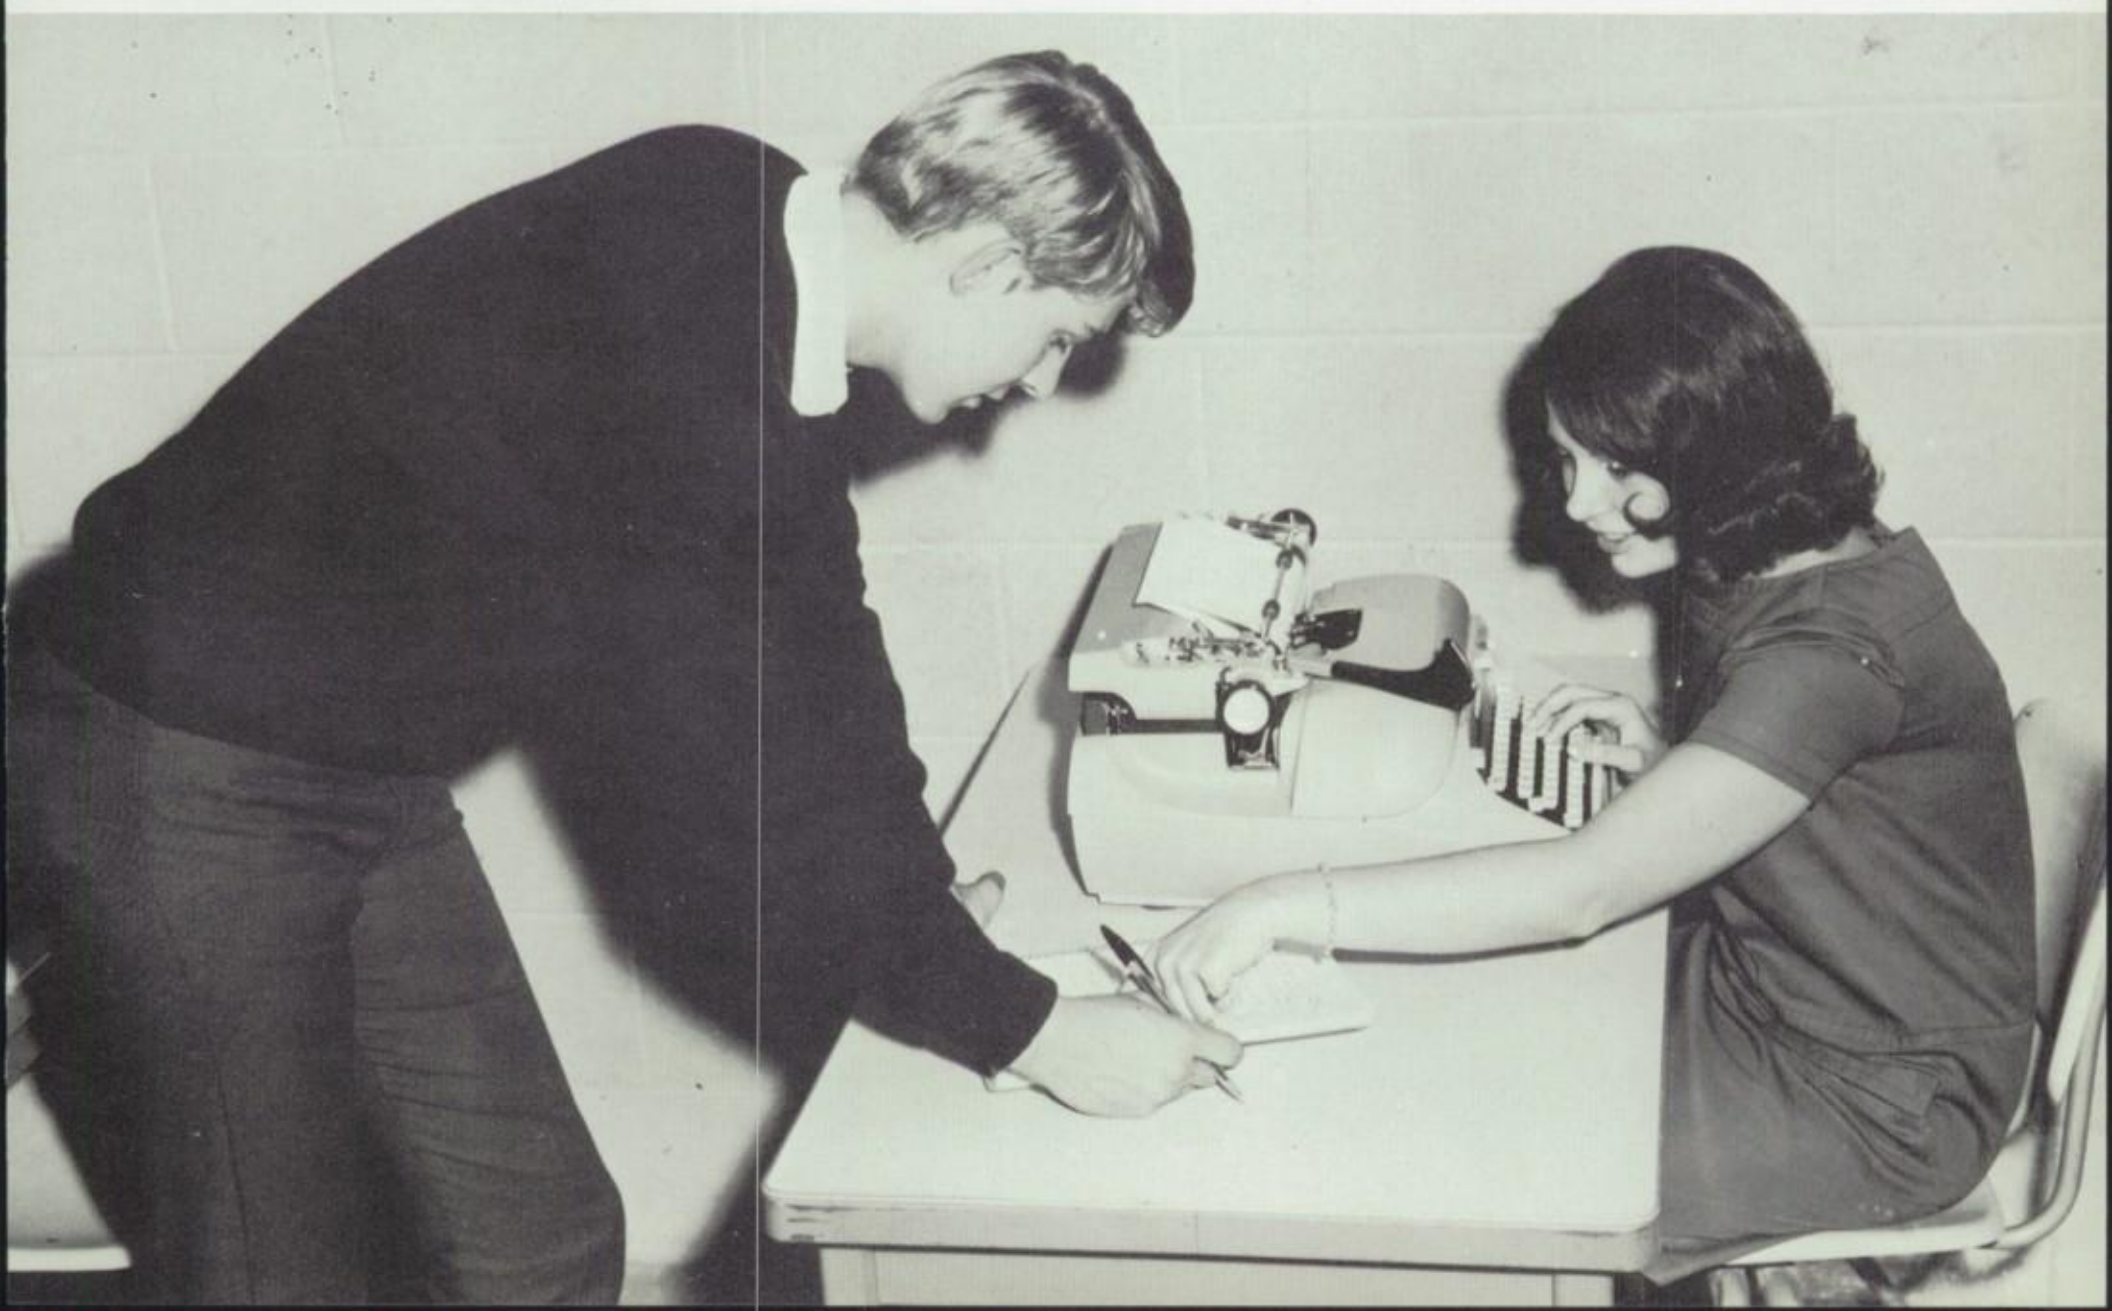
Dahms, Gamba Win English Honors

Seniors Tom Gamba and Mike Dahms were chosen finalists in the National Council of Teachers of English writing competition. They were among 800 finalists, selected from the 8,500 nominated for the NCTE citation.

Rentschler, Ross Named Merit Finalists



Karen Sarter, Joe Evans and Marty Miles in a rehearsal scene of the spring offering of the dramatics department, "Alice in Wonderland."

Karen Sarter, who played the lead role, Alice, in a dramatic moment in the children's play.

Penn Players Present 'Alice in Wonderland'

Here Comes the Band!

Here come the Marching Kingsmen. Led by drum majors Dewey Ratliff and Joe Evans the Penn band entertains the onlookers in the Mishawaka Memorial Day parade.

Band instructor Mr. Randall Brugh has a concerned expression as he checks the cadence of his Black, White, and Gold charges.

Class of '70 Presents

Tenth Junior-Senior Prom

'Showboat'

"Let us turn back the clock and recapture an era in our American History when girls made a Career of glamorous charm and men a pursuit of being gallant!"

The Wheel of Fortune spins for Tim Wright, Linda Menchinger, Sherry Rockwell, Joe Evans, Dave Neitzel, Jackie Schimizzi, Mr. Yoder and Mrs. Robert Gilbert.

Student Council Plans Basketball Homecoming!

1969 was a good year for the Student Council. The tempo picked up at the very beginning when they launched their first project, the jute box.

Meeting regularly, they held a number of informative sessions where issues like the school Dress Code were discussed and debated.

Another first for the 'Council this year was the basketball king and queen contest. Penny Penrod was chosen queen and Gary Hertel, king.

Closing out an action-packed year the 'Council took charge of the Kingsman of the Year election and interestingly enough a 'Council member, the second girl in Penn's history, Connie Thompson was chosen.

Mr. Robert Cohan of the South Bend Tribune's Public Relations Department presents the 'Staffer of the Year' award to Jean Gill, Editor of Penn Points.

Charlene Cocanower Earns Valedictorian Honor

Senior class president Donn Walling presents Mr. Green with the coveted honorary Kingsman of the Year Award. Mr. Green is the third Penn principal to be so honored.

Mr. Green Receives Honorary K-Man of Year Award!

The second girl to win the Kingsmen of the Year Award, Connie Thompson, poses with the Schmucker Award winner Gamba and the Thespian Award winner Karen Sauter. Mr. Green unrolls the scroll autographed by the student body in his honor.

DWIGHT DAVID EISENHOWER
1890-1969

The Penn library honors IKE on his birthday.

Friday Evening, March 28, 1969 GEN. EISENHOWER IS DEAD

President Nixon—"As long as men cherish their freedom, Dwight Eisenhower will stand with them, as he stood during war and peace: strong, confident and courageous."

Senator Bayh—"The American honor roll of greatness is of men who have served their country by the ideals of duty. General Eisenhower was such a man."

Former President Johnson—"America will always be a better nation-stronger, safer, more conscious of its heritage, more certain of its destiny—because Ike was with us when America needed him."

Joseph Jozwiak, Penn's head custodian, reflects the kind of dedication to duty typical of his staff.

Autographs . . . A Time to Remember!

Years

'The tissue of the life to be, we weave with colors all our own, and in the field of destiny—we reap as we have sown.'

—Whittier

Rush by

The years spent at Penn are years of change and maturity for every student. Each individual gradually developes a new appearance, new mannerisms, a more well-rounded education, and new views of society and the "adult world." Ideally, the students learn to accept society and want to improve it; and, for many sensitive world-changers, high school is the time to equip oneself for the battle to keep the world in one piece for another generation. Others look to their own lives with the same sensitivity, and view the rest of their environment through a perspective of what they have learned about themselves.

The perspective in self-knowledge is the best insight a person can achieve, at any period in life. The high school years are said to "prepare the graduate to step into real life" —but who can say that the lives changed and molded at Penn aren't real now? Perhaps "adult life" may be substituted; for the maturing process everyone faces as the years rush by, rushes them into adulthood.
